Reckless Kelly will be coming to Gruene Hall on Aug. 18 with a brand new CD/DVD set to promote. Simply titled "Reckless Kelly Was Here," the live concert was recorded and filmed March 31 at Austin's famous La Zona Rosa. Award-winning video director Peter Zavadil filmed the concert and mixed in surround sound with the help of Grammy winner Elliot Scheiner.

The two-CD set contains 16 live tracks and two new studio tracks, including the hit single "Break My Heart Tonight." The live DVD contains 15 live tracks plus a cool 30-minute bonus feature called "Reckless Kelly Was Here, But They're Not All There." This half-hour mini-film shows rare backstage and tour footage of the band members as they travel across the country. It offers an intimate look behind the scenes of life on the road for a band of seasoned Texas rockers.

As you'll soon learn, this band knows what it's like to do several months of one-night stands, playing every dance hall and nightclub that has electricity. They even offer a hilarious montage of clips they affectionately refer to as "Tips from the Road."

The Aug. 18 show costs just $12 and features special guests 3 Mile Stone as the opening act.
